Summary:

On 12/02/2023, Houston police officers were conducting surveillance on a known burglary suspect. The officers began surveillance of the suspect and, at one point, lost visual sight of him. The officers began searching the area in unmarked police vehicles. The Sergeant involved in this incident drove behind a warehouse and was searching a parking lot behind a building at the 7000 block of Harwin Drive. Surveillance Video shows the suspect hiding behind a vehicle in this parking lot. As the Sergeant drive to the end of the parking lot, the suspect ran up to the Sergeant's vehicle and began firing a pistol into the passenger side. the gunfire struck the Sergeant five times, and then the suspect started to walk around the vehicle toward the driver's door.

The Sergeant was able to exit his vehicle and return fire toward the suspect. the suspect fled the location on foot and was found a short time later around the corner of the building at 7000 Harwin Drive. Officers found the suspect had sustained several gunshot wounds, and they provided first aid to the suspect and the Sergeant at the scene. The Houston Fire Department pronounced the suspect deceased at the location, and the Houston Police Sergeant was transported to the hospital, where he was treated for several non-life-threatening gunshot wounds.
